Who are your gods then?

Here they are:

The Dimensional Transfunctioner (Spire of Dublin)

General Miaow

Triangulon

The Reality Fish

The Holy Spoon

Thomas The Walking Head

A Magical Trumpet Called Bill

The DXM Angel

How do people feel about legal insanity?

Something amazing is happening, and you would be advised not to miss out on it. A new movement, more insane than a religion, more profound than a cult and more important than money, has been created to discover the SECRET OF THE UNIVERSE, which is the most important fact you will ever hear.

So what is it then?

We don't know yet. But we're getting there.

How are you going to find it?

Well, The Ultimate Comment is a framework for discovering it. We've got eight gods, and eight secrets, and you've guessed it, each god has a secret. We figure that once we know all of the secrets, then we'll know the secret of the universe, which we also call "The Ultimate Comment".

Do you know any of them yet?

We know seven of them so far, the last is proving pretty hard to discover.

So what are the secrets?

We don't want to give too much away in a leaflet. Okay, "Laughing is Always an Option". I'll give you that one for free. It's the secret of A Magical Trumpet Called Bill.

That doesn't explain much.

You have to add them all together to get the secret of the universe, though some of them are pretty cool on their own.

How do you know if it's a secret?

It's because the sentence has a certain rhythm. All of our secrets are "Rhythm Sentences".

We're not sure exactly what will happen when we join all eight secrets. It might destroy the universe. But it will be pretty cool.

what's Metacommentology?

Metacommentology is the science that has sprung up around The Ultimate Comment. It includes such concepts as "The Maze Where Realities Converge" – and "The Bus that Went to Infinity". For instance, when it turns out you know someone who knows someone else who knows you? Is it chance, conspiracy or an Insane Meaningful Coincidence? What connects the TV drama Lost to the strange feeling you get when you realise what you're talking about and start talking about the fact that you're talking about what you're talking about? What is that thing that cats look like they know that we don't? We aim to explore the Vast Interconnectedness and suck dry the teats of its mystery.

So join us in our amazing quest, and discover the secret depths of reality, become a LIVING GOD!
